Jul 2023

Founder of University spin-off

University of Turin, Department of Computer Science

I co-founded aequa-tech, an innovative startup that aims to develop NLP, Machine Learning, and Complex Networks tools while respecting the issues of fairness and digital disparity. A few months after its foundation, aequa-tech has already obtained several hundred thousand euros from private investments and European tenders.

Phd Student in Computer Science

University of Turin, Department of Computer Science

I have participated in numerous university and industrial research projects. I have collaborated and published with CENTAI Institute, AFC Digital Hub, and ISI Foundation. My research interests include the study of polarisation and balance in complex networks, fraud detection in weighted temporal transaction networks, and social media analysis and mining. I have supervised several Bachelor's and Master's theses in Computer Science, one Master's thesis in Stochastics and Data Science, and one thesis in Physics of the Complex Systems.

Teaching Assistant of Web Technologies course

University of Turin, Department of Computer Science

My role was to follow and help the students to prepare for the exam. I also followed the correction of the students' exam projects.

Research fellowship Talenti Società Civile

University of Turin, Department of Computer Science

I analysed the quality of life in Turin's neighbourhoods and how people's perceptions differ from the data. This project was funded by CRT Foundation.
